Michael R Jeffords & Susan L. Post

Join entomologists Dr. Jeffords and Post for a unique exploration of the insects and other creatures that call an Illinois forest home. As skies darken, Michael and Susan will give a short program on creatures of the night, followed by black-lighting to attract insects from the surrounding landscape.

Insects from mayflies to moths are likely to make an appearance!

"As soon as the sky is sufficiently dark, we will explore the a mysterious Fugate Woods with black-lighting and miniature spotlights to see and experience arthropod activity seldom witnessed. Everything from giant wolf spiders to munching caterpillars to charming tree frogs will likely appear in our flashing beams," says Dr. Jeffords.
